THE DEATH RECORD.

COX.
Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Frank Cox, of Neelyville, Mo., who passed from earth on Wednesday. Mr. Cox is dangerously ill with a severe attack of the measles and altogether the family is a most afflicted one.

CORRINGTON.

Mrs. Eva H. Corrington, wife of J. C. Corrington, of Ashland, aged 21 years, died in St. John's hospital in Springfield April 21.

Mrs. Corrington was born in Jefferson City, Mo., Jan. 31, 1882, and was the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Helder, of Springfield. She is survived by her husband, two sisters, Misses Frances and Julia Helder, and an infant son. She was a devoted member of the Presbyterian church.

Word was received in the city

Thursday of the death of Mrs. Edward Peck at her home in Monroe, Cass county. The deceased was a daughter of the late Isaiah Huffman.

FUNERALS.

VANSTONE.

The funeral of the late Thomas VanStone was held from Ashbury M. E. church on Wednesday, the services being in charge of Rev. J. L. Wylder and Rev. A. L. Plowman. A very large attendance of friends, neighbors and relatives were present to testify to their esteem of the deceased. One brother, John VanStone, whose home is in Galt, Canada, was present.

The remarks of the ministers included eloquent words of condolence to the bereaved wife, children and brother who survive to mourn the loss of a good husband and father and a loving brother.

The deceased was born in Devonshire, England, April 12, 1848, and came to this country in 1867, settling in Illinois. In 1875 he was united in marriage to Mrs. M. A. McAllister. To this union two children were born, Mrs. Samuel R. Helder and Mrs. F. W. Helder. Mrs. VanStone was a devoted wife and mother, and her death is a great loss to her family.

The funeral of the late M. E. church many years ago. He was a consistent Christian, honest and sober and his words were a yea, and nay, nay. No filthy word ever escaped his lips, for his language and his heart were pure. God gave him the gift of a good wife and children, and he was a good father.

MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT.

Under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor society of the Portuguese church a most creditable musical entertainment was given at the North Street church Thursday evening. There was a large audience present and they showed their appreciation by demanding frequent encores which were enthusiastically given. The program consisted of orchestral, vocal and instrumental numbers and evidenced a great deal of musical talent. The orchestra of twenty pieces under the skillful leadership of F. J. Vieira is one of the most promising musical organizations of the city and their playing reflects great credit upon their individual skill and as well as the ability of their leader. The program was as follows:

March—The Cavalryman.....Ashton

Orchestra.

Vocal solo—'I've Grown So Used to You'

Chantway

Piano solo—Bustle of Spring.....Op. 23

No. 3.....Slindling

Miss Leonora Fernandes.....

Quartet—Come Where the Lilies Bloom.....The Thompsons

Mrs. Everett B. Oliver, Mamie Day, Joe Pires, Charles DeFreitas.

Waltz—In the Good Old Summer Time.....Chantway

Piano solo—Faust.....Leybach

Miss Anna Correa.

March—Hail to the Spirit of Liberty.....Sousa

Orchestra.

The Bug Dog on the Bank and the Bull

Prog in the Pond.....J. H. Vasconcellos, Ed. Marks, Joe Gomez, Walter Vieira.

Couverture—Superba.....Dabney

Orchestra.

Saxophone solo—Blue Bells of Scotland, air and variations.....Paul de Ville

F. J. Vieira.

March—The Stars and Stripes Forever.....Sousa

Orchestra.

THROWN FROM A HORSE.

Miss Elizabeth Strawn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Strawn, was visiting at the home of her uncle, Joel Strawn, east of the city Thursday afternoon when she was thrown from a horse. The animal reared and plunged into the air, falling backward upon Miss Strawn, severely injuring her in the back and hip. Dr. J. W. Hairgrove was sent for at once, as she appeared to be in danger of her life. An examination proved otherwise, however. It was thought best to bring Miss Strawn to Passavant hospital, where she is now recovering from her injuries. Her injuries are not regarded as dangerous, although she was severely bruised.

ATTACKED THE TURKEY.

Harry Smith, a prisoner at the county jail, made a savage attack on the turkey, John Taylor, last night. Just how the attack was made is not known, but Smith had a small stick in his hand and used it to jab the turkey. The turkey was badly injured and Smith is one of the men who were caught on the night of the attack. Smith is a seemingly hardened criminal. No kind of punishment has a quiet effect on him and his surly, vindictive spirit is often manifested.

CONFERENCE OF BISHOPS.

On April 25 there will be a conference of bishops of the Methodist church in Wilkesbarre, Pa. Bishop Merrill will be there to represent the Illinois conference. The meeting will be an important one, for at this time the date of the Illinois conference in Quincy next fall will be named. It will be remembered that a strong fight at conference last year occurred between Quincy and Bloomington as to which place should have the conference this year. Quincy finally winning. It is a fact not generally known, at least outside the Methodist church members, that the Illinois conference is the largest in the Methodist of the world. It is also the original. These two distinctions make Illinois prominent in the time, the other distinction of being the largest will be held as long as possible. There is no immediate danger of the Illinois conference being moved to another place, as the church are busy all along the line.

$1.50 St. Louis and return 7:20 a. m. Sunday via THE ALTON.

AFTER A LONG LIFE

Non-Other Coultas Passed From Earth Thursday Afternoon.

A Prominent Citizen.

Hon. Oliver Coultas, for many years a respected resident of this county, died at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon at his home in Scott county, age 78 years. He was born April 12, 1817, at North Hiding, Yorkshire, England, his father being a substantial farmer. The deceased was the first of his family to come to America, but the others followed a little later and settled in Morgan or Scott counties.

Feb. 10, 1854, he married to Miss Margaret Headen, daughter of Dr. Thomas Headen. Eleven children were born to them, Mrs. J. I. Gordon, Mrs. Alvis Kumble, Mrs. C. M. Sevier, Samuel L. Miller, James Gordon, Oliver J. Louie, Henry L. and William E. Two children died in infancy.

Mr. Coultas in early life became a member of the Christian church and was always consistent in his life. A Democrat in politics, he ever took an active interest in the affairs of his party. In 1870 he was elected to the state legislature and served his constituents faithfully. When Mr. Coultas came to this section land was comparatively cheap and he soon acquired a good farm. Later he devoted special attention to the raising of swine, dealing in them largely in connection with Mr. Galt, of Chicago, who was the first man to ship live pork to the east as a business. Mr. Coultas realized good profits from this business and invested his money wisely in the farm land.

His good judgment became the owner of a large tract of land in Morgan and Scott counties and was widely known as a wealthy farmer. In all things Mr. Coultas led an exemplary life and his influence was always a power for good in the community. Although he was so full of years his death is sincerely mourned by a large number of relatives and friends.

The funeral will be held from his late home Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. J. H. Smart will officiate, assisted by Rev. G. R. Newkirk. Interment will be in Winchester cemetery.

THE HOUSE REVOLTS

Objects to Speaker Miller's Ruling.

Elect Allen Speaker and Proceed to Business After the Session was Adjourned by Gavel Rule.

Springfield, April 25.—Slugging and rolling over each other, across the speaker's platform in a frenzied and general riot at the foot of a score of women guests, members of the Illinois legislature to-day surpassed the wildest scenes of the Austrian reichsrath. To-night charges by the speaker of the house, J. H. Miller, that attempts had been made to bribe him were formally made as an explanation for the extraordinary actions on his part that precipitated the riot. The incident of the legislative chamber to night resembles in a measure the track of a tornado, so general was the wreckage of chairs and desks.

Chicago street railway franchises, more valuable than gold mines, were directly at stake, the federal court receivership proceedings against the Union Traction company of Chicago yesterday having brought the matter to a head. The federal receivership was held by many to indicate intention by the street railway company to fight out a claim for a ninety-nine year franchise, instead of negotiating with the Chicago city council for renewal of franchises on a twenty-year basis with municipal ownership option on the part of the city.

THE PROCEEDINGS.

Springfield, April 25.—Determination of the speaker of the house to tie up legislation regardless of its merits until action can be secured on the traction question was clearly manifested in the house this morning. The test came on the child labor bill called up by Davies. The bill was on third reading and when the roll call commenced on its passage Allen, whose name heads the list of members, arose and said: "I notice the printing of papers that my friends in Chicago have been placed into the hands of receivers (laughter) and they must have relief before another wheel turns in this house. Therefore I refuse to vote on this question."

When the name of Davies was reached he said he introduced this bill and was directly responsible for having it put on a vote at this time and asked that a roll call be taken. The bill failed of passage. Yeas 50, nays 11. Davies gave notice of a motion to reconsider.

It was 11:20 when Speaker Miller announced the Lindly municipal ownership bill was special order on second reading. The bill was read. Then Lindly was recognized and offered amendments formulated at Tuesday night's conference. Before these were read he made a statement to the house explaining them. Shortly before noon Speaker Miller advanced the Lindly traction bill to third reading when friends of the Miller bill made an attempt to put him out of the chair. In the midst of the turmoil the speaker declared the house adjourned.

Immediately after Miller left the chair Murray took the floor and called the house to elect a speaker pro tem. Charles Allen, of Vermilion, was declared elected speaker pro tem and for his way through the surging mob to the speaker's desk. Henry Beiler acted as clerk. Speaker Pro Tem Allen ordered the house officers held left. Then janitors were called upon, but failed to respond. The roll call was then ordered to see if a quorum was present. During the reading of names the confusion became so great it was impossible for the clerk to be heard as he called the roll and two sergeant-at-arms were appointed and ordered to clear the aisles and preserve order.

Representative Gray in answering to his name declared the speaker has violated his oath of office and constitution of the state of Illinois. We are now violating the law by running a rough house here at this time. After much confusion the roll call was finally completed and showed 97 members present. Sherman then made an extended talk on the constitutional status of the existing session of the house and stated 97 members were present and the constitutionality of the session was not destroyed by the abdication of its regular presiding officer. "We might die," said Sherman, "and as far as parliamentary purposes in this house he is now dead."

After more further parliamentary questions were disposed of the municipal ownership bill was recalled from third reading.

Miller offered a section of the Lindly bill as a substitute for the Lindly bill. On the first two amendments there were roll calls, but the amendments were adopted. The succeeding amendments were passed. The roll call of the Miller bill and new section prepared by Edwin Burrill Smith, specially limiting all grants to twenty years, was then adopted by voice vote. It was then decided to bring the bill on second reading and accordingly further consideration was temporarily postponed.

At 2:35 Speaker Miller with members of the Republican steering committee emerged from the speaker's room. Miller similarly ascended the rostrum and as he did so Allen, who was still occupying the chair, extended his hand in a friendly way and the house applauded. Miller then called the house to order.

The laughter as the speaker brought down his gavel and said: "The house will be in order."

In a moment members were in a new parliamentary fiasco as to which tract bill was properly before the house. Miller announced the house, in his judgment, was in a state of agitation which would soon pass and advised members rest until to-morrow morning.

A fresh uproar followed an effort by the speaker to adjourn to a viva voce vote. Quick announcement by Miller that the roll would be called pacified the legislators and elected speakers. The roll call started, but there was so much confusion that a motion for recess until evening met with no opposition.

During the recess representatives of the two houses met in the opposition way into conference to agree on a settlement. The conference lasted nearly three hours. It was finally agreed the action of the house on the Lindly bill be reconsidered and the speaker should be in a roll call on the amendments adopted this morning under the gavel.

To-night when the house reconvened a motion to reconsider was entered in accordance with the agreement and postponed until to-morrow. Before adjournment Speaker Miller made a statement in justification of his refusing roll call in justification of his refusing roll call.

"I have been approached at different times by parties who intimated to me they could make money by allowing roll call to be known as the Miller traction bill. I have refused their offers. I do not know whether the parties making the statements were authorized to make them or not, but statements having been made to me, and some of them very recently."
